

- Does "đã" mean an action happened in the future? No
- Can "nhé" be used to soften a suggestion, like "okay?" in English? Yes
- Is "đang" used to show an action that happened in the past? No
- Is "sẽ" a particle you use to talk about the future in Vietnamese? Yes
- Is it not correct to use "đang" before the verb to indicate the present continuous tense? No
- Would "nha" make a command or request sound more friendly or gentle? Yes
- In Vietnamese, can you combine both "đã" and "rồi" for double emphasis that an action is definitely finished? Yes